After serving some time in the Ogden school, he was paroled and since that time has had a home with a Mrs. Mills, 437 east Sixth South street.

It is claimed by Mrs. Mills, according to officer Carlson, that the mother of the boy tried to drown him when he was a mere babe. Where the mother is at the present time is not known. As young Pettit was only paroled from the industrial school, he will be returned to that institution at once. The other boys have been discharged.

Mrs. Kinney said that the clubs had aided much in the securing of higher wages for school teachers and she thought the members should work with legislatures for the establishment of a pension fund for teachers. The federation had during the year 32 dreulating libraries, and the books were constantly in demand. A suggestion was made by the speaker that employment agencies in the state made subjects of a rigid investigation, and she was of the opinion that the state should maintain at least three such establishments. Through the efforts of women's clubs, blacksmithing and carpentry had bren inaugurated at Canyon Crest farm. The federation was urged by Mrs. Kinney to petition the legislature to ratubilish a forestry commission for the state. She said the cutting defin and destroying of trees in Sail Lake was an outrage.

started the trouble at Clarfield on the murder of T. Shin by Juno Tsukuda, who is now on trial for his life before jury of 12 men in the crimbial court of the Third district, Judge G. G. Armstrong presiding:

Sakutaro, a Japanese witness for the people, related the story in his testimony given this morning. A work gang of 40 Japanese were laboring for the Oregon short Live railway in its north yards in this city. This gang bought a large amount of provisions to be used in their caup. The gang divided into two gauge of 26, one of these gangs dividing later into parties of eight and 12. Eight of this lost gang went to Garfield to go to work at the concentrator there. They sent by express the provisions remaining, paying $15 for the expressage. The remaining eight men, among whom was Tsukuda's victim, Shin, went to work on the Western Pacific's line west of the city and not far from Garfield. The gang of 12 sold their provisions for $30.

Sakatura's recital revealed a characteristic trad among the orientals when in a fight. They remove a slipper from one of their feet, usually the right, and use it as a weapon. The lestimony shows that many of the Japanese in the room when the fight occurred, were using their slippers in this manner. The telling of this phase of their fight caused a smile to spread over the faces of the court, the jury and the counsel for the people and the defense, in spite of the fact that the matter before them is to say whether or not Tsukuda must yield his life for or not Tsukuda must yield his life for baying taken that of a brother, Today a Quiet One at Political Headquarters Following Decisive Work of Yesterday.

HOW IS SENTIMENT FORMING?

Both Chairman Snow and Chairman Devine Claim First Honors in Race for Anti-"American" Vote.

Today is an off day in uptown politics. Centering all interest in registration day party chairmen from every headquarters concentrated their efforts in the showing of yesterday. Today they are resting after the battle. Large holes in the various barrels tell what the 'busmen got for their carriages and the recruiting of more funds for election day will now be begun. The ears of the political muessers are to the ground this morning more close ly than they ever have been before in this campaign. It is conceded by the wise men in the political game that yesterday the election was won or lost, unless some sudden new factor, such as a scandal of the proportions of the Sheets case in another public office, happens to upset opinion as it is settling after yesterday. for as it is settling after yesterday.

For that reason opinion as it floats in from the districts is eagerly awalted at headquarters. Chairman Ashby Snow spent this morning seceiving reports at Democratic headquarters. He was in a particularly happy frame of mind over them, and did not have to be urged to make a statement about the cause for his joy.

NEW VOTERS.

"We hauled 4.000 people to the polls," he declared. "The registration was a marvelously big one, and the Democratic organization has never been in such good shape before. And about this large increase in the registratios, it is wonderful the way Salt Lake is growing that's all, and you can take it from me that this vote is not by any means an "American" party one. The "American" party sophistries about hierarchs and all that have failed to convince against the silent arguments of the Sheets case, the Raleighs, and the looting of public funds through the city treasury until the town is almost hankrupt. There is much dissatisfaction in the "American" party, and it is finding open expression in spite of the attempt of the leaders to keep up a cheerful coantenance."

Chairman James Devine at Republican headquarters was found this morning taking things as quietly as if running a campaign were the game of a lifetime's practise. He met a number of party chiefs with whom he talked the situation over at length, and from his expression he is far from feeling that there is any question about who will receive the anti-American party vote. He declared that the people were coming under the Republican banner in increasing numbers every day, and that he expects a heavy vote on election day when the Republican organization, again gets in its work to get the people to the polis that have already been gotten out to register. ON RELIGIOUS LINES.

At "American" headquarters there is e more definite basis for figuring than ne more definite basis for figuring than a religious canvass, showing who are Mormons and who are non-Mormons. They count on getting the line of cleavage thoroughly established before election, and have builded air castles on this as a basis. Every new voter being claimed by them on the general grounds that he will be susceptible to their tales of "fried hierarch" which are being sent out in mailed dodgers, and through the party organs. The dissatisfaction over increasing taxes, and their effect in increasing rents, is what seems to be a most potent factor in dampening "American" enthusiasm.

Utah Packing Plants Have Difficulty in Securing Tinware For Products.

Wanted-A tin can factory for Utah. The cans are needed for use in putting or Utah's bumper crop of peas, tomaes and fruit.

This is what teade a canning factory which will make cans, may depend upon: All of the orders from 27 factories now existing in the state and a number more that are in a formative period. For 1907 the season's run is about finished. The factories canned more products by 50 per cent than they did last season Through the run they were greatly nandicapped on account of the remoteess of a factory to make tin cans for the trade. The M. & M. association has been collecting data on the opportunity here for a tin can plant for a long time. Secy. Haddock gave it out today that 20,000,000 tin cans had been used in Itah Industries this season, and that 13,262,088 of these are represented by canned goods now on the market, or eady for market this winter, while the maining cans were consumed in reakages. Besides using this number of cans, he factories employed 1, 325 people and aid out in wages $150,235. In 1906 there here 22 factories and they put up 552,587 asses of fruit and vegetables, each case cases of fruit and vegetables, each case containing 24 cans.

That a can factory here would also draw trade from other western market centers is suggested by the following letter from J. E. Dir of Spokane, which has been received at the Chamber of Commerce:

Spokane, Washington, Odtober 28, 1907.—Chamber of Commerce, Salt Lake City, Utah. Gentlemen—If it is not asking too much would you kindly advise if there is a can company in Salt Lake, that is a can factory, if so please send address. Thanking you in advance for the trouble I am yours truly.
